Greg Norman - Champion golfer and Brookwater golf course designer

In 2001, two-times (PGA) champion Greg Norman set out to design the award winning golf course at Brookwater from a blank slate – a challenge in itself when working with our typically rugged Australian terrain.

Greg’s aim was to create a world class golf course that retained sympathetic to its unique environment; still evident today despite its maturing process are the Iron Bark trees, which make the location so special.

What he designed is a one-off, award winning course which enjoys a fantastic response from professional and occasional golfers. Brookwater golf course is a centrepiece for the community and way up there with world best courses.

“It’s great to see how Brookwater and Springfield have changed and grown over the years, and I can’t wait to see how it develops over the next 20 years and beyond.”
