Dear Mr Wambeek

Re: Clarification

I am writing to formally state that the Sydney Morning Herald entirely accepts your assurances regarding the distinction between your company, 21st Century Group Pty Ltd, and the activities of Jamie McIntyre and his self-described 21st Century group of companies.

Therefore I also accept various reports we have published about Mr McIntyre's activities are not related in any way to the activities of 21st Century Group Pty Ltd (ACN 108 150 545).

As discussed, we have placed the following notice on all stories that have been published to date:

CLARIFICATION: This article is about Jamie McIntyre and his associates who use the term 21st Century group to describe their various property activities. However Fairfax Media accepts assurances that Mr McIntyre is in no way associated with 21st Century Group Pty Ltd (Australian Company Number 108 150 545), a Sydney-based property development company that was registered in 2004. Full details about 21st Century Group Pty Ltd can be accessed at www.21stcenturygroup.com.au.

In the future, I have asked journalists that future articles concerning Mr McIntyre will feature a disclaimer to the effect of:

Mr McIntyre is in no way associated with 21st Century Group Pty Ltd, a Sydney-based property development company that was registered in 2004.

I hope that these measures address the issues you have brought to my attention.

Yours sincerely,

Stuart Washington
